Conclusion

Small steps, lasting change

The year 2024–25 marked the chapter in Allbright Packaging's commitment to giving back by investing in curious young minds, ensuring every child has a fair start and strengthening the healthcare systems that communities depend on.

This report reflects CSR activities conducted during the financial year 2024–25.

Looking ahead to 2025–26

- Scale the astronomy and skill-based programme to more government schools, deepening scientific curiosity among a wider base of underprivileged students.
- Establish dedicated Learning Centres in government schools to provide holistic, 360-degree development for primary and pre-primary learners.
- Expand healthcare partnerships, extending free diagnostic access to patients across India through collaborations with national health organisations.
- Continue investing in teacher training and 21st-century skill development, ensuring the impact of each initiative extends well beyond a single school year.
